While working with Mr. Bardhan, during day to day interaction with him, we could understand the goal behind his training since he focusses on actual implementation rather than mere documentation. Surprisingly, It's worth to note that he is willing to do for the society and the nation with same positive thoughts, for development of India.

Mr Bardhan guided us in people development under 'E&T Pillar of TPM'. His friendly and mentoring approach motivates the people to learn and enhance their functional skill as well as to think beyond their functional boundary, which creates positive vibes throughout the plant.

He also gave us Risk Based Process approach based on FMEA model which helped in analysing processes, mapping the associated risks and then finding the skill gaps in people to plan the training program accordingly. It has also helped us in sustaining our excellence journey in productivity as well as quality.
